Indication of products 1. Trocar.

Description The product is a trocar used for endoscopic surgery; for example, a small cavity is to be made on the abdominal wall in laparoscopic surgery, and the trocar is to be inserted therein (see reference view of the reproduction No. 1.17); the surgery is performed by inserting a medical apparatus such as forceps, into a patient's body; on this occasion, a camera is to be positioned at the front end of the trocar; the camera is to be stored during insertion or removal of the trocar; the part indicated by solid lines is the part for which the design registration is sought as a partial design; a rear view is omitted because of the absence of the part for which the design registration is sought; the dotted-dashed line merely indicates the boundary between the part for which the design registration as a partial design is sought and the other part; the reproductions Nos. 1.1-1.6 show the trocar in a closed position for storing a camera, and the reproductions Nos. 1.7-1.12 show the trocar in an opened position for releasing the camera.

Claim The ornamental design for a trocar as shown and described
